NOTE ON THE CONTENTS.

In this report all the financial tables concerning the State institutions relate to the year that ended on Nov. 30, 1919, in accordance with the act of 1905 that established a fiscal year. Statistics of prisoners, criminal prosecutions, arrests, etc., and all information concerning the county prisons are for the year that ended on Sept. 30, 1919.

The first part of the document contains the general reports which embrace suggestions and recommendations for legislation upon prison matters. The reports of the State Prison, the Massachusetts Reformatory, the Reformatory for Women, the Prison Camp and Hospital, the State Farm, and the jails and houses of correction, respectively, contain statistics that relate exclusively to those institutions, but the general statistical tables comprise particulars concerning these places with all the others. After the prison statistics there will be found tabular information concerning arrests, criminal prosecutions, etc.; the financial tables relative to maintenance; and accounts of the industries.

The subjects presented in the various subdivisions are summarized as follows: —

The first five prisons are under the control of the Bureau of Prisons exclusively. All the county prisons are under general supervision of the Bureau of Prisons.

The places for the imprisonment of juvenile offenders are not in any respect under the control or supervision of the Bureau of Prisons. They are the Lyman School for Boys at Westborough, the State Industrial School for Girls at Lancaster, and the Industrial School for Boys at Shirley, all managed by the Trustees of Massachusetts Training Schools; and the Suffolk School for Boys on Rainsford Island in Boston Harbor, managed by the Trustees for Children of the City of Boston.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

BUREAU OF PRISONS.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF PRISONS.

STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, Dec. 1, 1919.

To the Honorable the Senate and the House of Representatives in General Court assembled:

The Director of Prisons respectfully submits the fourth annual report of the Bureau of Prisons. Not since prison statistics in this State have been compiled have there been so few commitments to the penal institutions of the Commonwealth as the number of persons committed during the year ending Sept. 30, 1919. There were but 8,596 males and 1,168 females committed to the State and county prisons during this period. It was expected by those familiar with penal problems that there would be a sharp rise in the prison population immediately following the armistice and subsequent demobilization of troops. War-time prohibition, put into effect last July, added another cause to those already existing for our low population. The probation system and abnormal industrial conditions, to which in a measure the low prison population during the war was due, still continue potent factors in the consideration of penal problems, and to these is now added the prohibition amendment to the Constitution. It is doubtful, with prohibition in effect, if we shall have a very great increase in the number of commitments for many years to come. The task of those dealing with offenders is made somewhat easier by the withdrawal from their consideration of the drunkards and those offenders whose crimes were due to the excessive use of intoxicants. The prison population to-day is made up of the mental defectives, the accidental offenders to a smaller degree than ever, and the normal delinquent who is either a drug addict or addicted to the use of intoxicants.

We may expect the continued low number of commitments of female offenders. Prostitution, which in a large measure was due to the liquor-dispensing cafés, is considerably on the wane. The unfortunate woman who was addicted to the use of liquor and repeatedly sentenced for drunkenness finds greater difficulty in procuring a substitute for a legitimate alcoholic beverage than does the male inebriate, and, we believe, she will not longer afford a problem to the prison official.

In the Director's report of last year mention was made of the law providing for the physical examination of all persons committed to penal institutions for more than thirty days (Revised Laws, chapter 75, section 48); and in order that the public might derive the full benefit of this law, the Legislature was urged to amend the same, which provides for the detention beyond expiration of sentence of persons afflicted with syphilis in its contagious or infectious stages, so as to provide in a like manner for the detention of persons afflicted with tuberculosis or gonorrhœa in their contagious or infectious stages. Your honorable body is urged to favorably consider this measure, which is again introduced.

The matter of a proper scheme for the identification of criminals is of vital importance to the public safety, and prison officials strongly feel that male prisoners committed for minor offenses are often escaped criminals from other states, or are persons desired by the police of the various cities and towns of this Commonwealth. The use of the fingerprint system of identification is more restricted than the old Bertillon system, as only persons who are committed for larceny or a felony may be finger-printed. An amendment is suggested and its enactment urged, permitting the taking of measurements and finger prints of persons committed under sentence for any offense.

STATE PRISON.

The Legislature, by chapter 50 of the Resolves of 1919, provided for the study of the State Farm at Bridgewater with a view to its possible use for a State Prison, with a report to the next Legislature; and it is expected that at last a beginning has been made for the proper caring of the long-time offenders. Whatever the report of that committee may be, it is strongly felt that this problem of a new State Prison should have the very serious consideration of the General Court. It is needless to reiterate the real reasons which make desirable a change of location, as these have been set out in detail in the previous reports of the department. The management of the State Prison deserves great credit for the manner in which the prison is conducted, despite the many and insurmountable difficulties encountered there.

Through the co-operation of the Boston school committee an epoch-making step was taken with the establishment of a school for illiterates under the guidance of expert teachers assigned by the city of Boston. The progress made by the non-English speaking foreigners during the short period which the school has been in operation has been remarkable. The prison is very proud of the part it is playing in our great American policy, and well it may be.

Mention was made in the report of last year of the need at this institution of systematic psychological research. During the year the prison was fortunate in being able to secure the services of Dr. A. Warren Stearns, who had been released from the Federal service. Dr. Stearns has already done much to develop this work; a mental examination is now being made of each inmate upon commitment, the records are compiled, and his treatment in the prison is governed by the results of this examination.

Laws were passed last year regulating the salaries of various officers and employees of the penal institutions, in order that they might be brought within the scope of the classification plan established under the provisions of chapter 228, General Acts of 1918. The salary of the electrician at the State Prison was not included, however, and a bill is presented to cover the same.

The industries at the State Prison have made great strides in the last few years. For some time past the installation of a plant for the manufacture of automobile license tags has been under consideration. Because of the war and the uncertainty of obtaining machinery and steel, nothing was done toward making a beginning until the signing of the armistice. Since that time the plant has been installed, and the supply of license tags for this State for 1920 is now being manufactured. This industry furnishes employment for about 30 men the year round, and conflicts in no way with any outside industry in this State. The manufacture of town signs for the Massachusetts Highway Commission is also under consideration.

MASSACHUSETTS REFORMATORY.

In this institution a slight rise in population is recorded over last year. It is believed that this institution will soon receive its normal commitment of young adult offenders.

The reformatory was affected more than any other penal institution by the war, because of the vast drafts of men for the army, most of them in the adolescent stage during which they are more likely to come in contact with the law. With our juvenile institutions taxed to their capacity, and having in mind the large number of juvenile offenders who will eventually find their way to the reformatory, it is well for the State to make preparation for a large number of commitments, and to make possible a better system of classification than has heretofore existed.

Opportunity is now given the young men in this institution for outdoor exercise daily for about forty-five minutes at the close of the day's work. This is in addition to Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, which was all the time previously allowed for exercise.

REFORMATORY FOR WOMEN.

The Legislature of 1919 made various provisions for the proper development of the Reformatory for Women. In addition to increasing the salaries of its officers and staff of matrons, it provided for a matrons' home, now in process of construction. A large sum was appropriated for the improvement of hospital facilities for the inmates, and the construction of a new barn was authorized, which is also under process of construction. These are among the few expenditures for construction since the reformatory was built in 1877, and will result in making this institution one of the best equipped in the State for dealing with its many problems.

The prison camp for male prisoners, maintained on the grounds, has suffered from the small number of commitments to the various penal institutions. Although it is equipped to care for 40 persons, the average population for the year has been but 20. It is hoped that it may not be necessary to abandon this camp, as the prisoners' work on the farm and about the new buildings has been invaluable.

PRISON CAMP AND HOSPITAL.

In his report of last year the Director definitely stated that no further expenditure of money in the way of permanent improvements in this institution should be made, and a recommendation was made that a site be acquired with tillable farm land so that the institution might be located where it would be more accessible.

Under no condition should the policy of dealing with offenders, for which this institution stands, be abandoned. Commitments are not made to this institution by the courts, all inmates being transferred from the State and county prisons after careful selection. The shortage of labor at the State sanatoria has not ceased to be a serious problem, and it has been with difficulty that the subordinate camps at Tewksbury, Medfield, North Reading, Framingham, and Rutland have been supplied with men during the year just ended. In October the camp on the grounds of the Rutland State Sanatorium was abandoned because of the lack of men, but it is hoped that it may be reopened early in the spring. No road-work camps were in operation during the past year; the only road work done by the prisoners was within 10 miles of the main institution, for the towns of Hubbardston and Rutland.

The prosecution of inmates who escape from this institution has not been an easy matter because of confliction in the law, and it is deemed of importance that the law should be sufficiently clear so that prosecution of such escapes may be made without undue delay.

STATE FARM.

On Aug. 27, 1919, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 199 of the General Acts of 1919, the State Farm was placed under the control of the Bureau of Prisons. It came into the department with the lowest population it had seen for thirty years, and added still further to our difficulties in the proper assignment of future inmates for industry purposes. The plant is in splendid condition, but it is doubtful if it will long remain so unless your honorable body extends the authority of the courts in the matter of commitments, or makes some arrangement whereby its population may be materially increased in numbers.

The law gives this department authority for aiding prisoners discharged from all penal institutions of the State under the control of this Bureau with the exception of the State Farm, and a bill is presented herewith which would give the department the same authority for aiding persons discharged from this institution.

INDUSTRIES.

The industries in the several institutions have been unusually active during the war period, and are still taxed to their capacity. The production per inmate is greater than at any time since the reorganization of the industries in 1898, and those whose experience antedates the time of the reorganization state that they have never seen the inmates work so conscientiously and with such good results within their memory. It seems as if it would be unnecessary to urge upon any one the desirability of affording inmates an incentive for good work, and yet the Legislatures of the past few years, in spite of favorable committee reports, have refused to permit the payment of a small wage to the prisoners, which, although it would be an added burden to the Commonwealth, would result in a much greater net gain. I place the economic aspect first, because in these times of heavy taxation it must be considered.

REPORT OF THE ADVISORY PRISON BOARD.

STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, Dec. 1, 1919.

To the Honorable the Senate and the House of Representatives in General Court assembled:

The Advisory Prison Board submits its fourth annual report at this time, inasmuch as it goes out of office on this date, with the abolishment of the Massachusetts Bureau of Prisons.

During the year Mr. Arthur D. Hill, who had been on leave of absence since December, 1917, while serving with the United States Judge Advocate's department in France, resigned as a member of the Board, and Dr. Harlan L. Paine of Rockland was appointed in February, 1919, to fill the vacancy.

In March, 1919, Mrs. Julius Andrews was elected chairman of the Board for the ensuing year.

During the past year the Board has continued to visit State and county prisons as usual.

The Board presents the following recommendations: —

1. Mental and physical examination of recidivists before court sentence.
2. Mental and physical examination of all sentenced prisoners upon commitment.
3. Practical industries, with compensation.
4. More varied food, with authorized inspection.
5. Adequate number of parole officers in the counties.
6. The conversion of one of the existing institutions into an institution for criminals who are drug users and alcoholics.

The Board recommends as the first step in bringing about the above-noted changes, the taking over by the State of all county jails and houses of correction.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF PAROLE.

BOSTON, Dec. 1, 1919.

To the Honorable the Senate and the House of Representatives in General Court assembled:

In compliance with the provisions of the statute, the following report of the Board of Parole is submitted.

The Board created by section 5 of chapter 241 of the General Acts of the year 1916, consisting of three members, was abolished by section 85 of chapter 350 of the General Acts of 1919 on the thirtieth day of November, A.D. 1919.

The new Board, created by section 85 of chapter 350 of the General Acts of 1919, consists of three members, a chairman, one member appointed by His Excellency the Governor, and a deputy commissioner designated and appointed by the Commissioner of Correction.

The report herewith submitted covers the work of the Board of Parole under the various statutes applicable thereto during the year 1919. In the views expressed in this report, and in the recommendations made, the chairman has the concurrence of those who were associated with him on the Board as it existed under the 1916 statute, and of the Board as it exists under the 1919 statute.

Under the former system the after-care of prisoners devolved upon the Director of Prisons, and the duty of providing it was performed by a deputy director of prisons, who was responsible only to the Director. Under the new system it is likely that the duty of after-care will be performed by the deputy commissioner of correction, who will be a member of the Board. This change involves a departure from the theory and principle of the act of 1916, and its results will be a subject of comment in the report rendered of the work of the Board in the year 1920.

A comparison of the figures herewith submitted with those of the years 1916, 1917 and 1918 indicates that the percentage of revokes has increased, and the increase makes comment proper. It is due to three factors: —

First. — The industrial and war necessities invited a more liberal exercise of the paroling power, and in consequence many men were paroled during the war period for work in the essential war industries whom in normal times it would not have been considered expedient to parole. Many of these men, whose releases were voted with some apprehension by the Board, proved unable to adjust themselves to prevailing social conditions, and were returned upon revocation of permit.

Second. — Many prisoners at liberty upon their parole enlisted in the military service. The fact of their enlistment frequently was not reported to the Board, and quite naturally no reports were received from them after their enlistment. This absence of report, being one of the most frequent causes of revocation, resulted in the formal revocation of the permits of many such men. The Board, of course, withdrew nearly all of such revocations upon proof of the fact that the man's failure to report was due to his enlistment.

Third. — The third factor which entered into the increase in the percentage of revocations was the prevailing unrest and tendency to disorder. Realization of this condition inclined the Board to revoke the permits of prisoners whose records and experience had shown them to be unruly, in many cases where in normal times they would have given them further trials and tried to encourage them.

In comparing the work of the Board for the year 1919 with the work of the Board for former years the fact should be borne in mind that the Board acquired jurisdiction over paroles from the State Farm on Aug. 27, 1919. In view of the short sentences imposed at the State Farm, the length of time which a prisoner may have at liberty upon permit from that institution is so short that scientific parole is quite impossible there. Without a longer experience than four months have afforded, the Board can make no comment of any value, but this problem will receive serious study and consideration during the year 1920. It can be said, however, that the addition of the State Farm work to the duties of the Board has greatly increased the burdens of the Board.

Prison administrators are consistently advocating the centralized control of all the penal institutions of the State. This policy vitally concerns this Board and its functions, and if ultimately adopted will add to its duties and responsibilities. The Board, therefore, believes that if such a policy were to be adopted, particular consideration should be given to the questions of indeterminate sentence and parole in connection therewith.

Last year the Board recommended in its report a codification of the laws relating to parole. The need for printing in a separate pamphlet the laws, together with the rules of this Board, is of the utmost importance. The distribution of a pamphlet containing the resolves, statutes and also the rules of the Board, as affecting the various institutions, would be of invaluable assistance to the various judges of the Commonwealth. At present no means are provided for the publication and distribution of such a pamphlet, and it is earnestly recommended that means be provided for it.

The objections to the limitations of the power of the Board to parole, with respect to releases from the State Prison, have been so frequently stated that their reiteration here seems unnecessary. The present Board, however, concurs with the preceding Boards in the belief that justice to the prisoner, justice to the community, and intelligent dealing with prison questions require the removal of these restrictions.

Students of prison matters have been nearly unanimous in recommending that the history of a crime, with its surrounding circumstances, should be reduced to writing at the time of a prisoner's conviction or plea of guilty, in order that when, months or years later, the prisoner applies for pardon or parole, the pardoning and paroling authorities may have definite and reliable information upon which to base their conclusions. If each district attorney would make such a record in duplicate, retain one copy and send the other to the Department of Correction, a long step would be taken in the direction of obtaining this most necessary reform.

The rewriting of the section under which this Board acts as Advisory Board of Pardons is most urgently needed. So far as the Board can ascertain, there is no opposition to the amendment suggested by the Board in its 1919 report, and we absolutely feel that another year should not pass without remedial legislation in this regard.

There are appended to this report statistics covering the work of the Board for the year ending Sept. 30, 1919.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

In conclusion it is recommended that legislation be passed providing for —

1. The publication in pamphlet form of a codification of the parole laws and of the rules of the Board of Parole affecting the various institutions in which the Board of Parole has authority.

2. An amendment of the statute describing the limitations of the Advisory Board of Pardons, to the end that the investigations of the Board take such scope as the Governor in his order of reference may prescribe.
3. The removal of the restrictions upon the power of the Board with respect to State Prison releases.
4. The making of a record of the facts relating to the crime of which a prisoner is convicted, or to which he pleads guilty at the time of such conviction, or plea, and the filing of such record with the Department of Correction.

Respectfully submitted,

STATE PRISON.

BOSTON (post-office address, CHARLESTOWN, MASS.).

WARDEN'S REPORT.

CHARLESTOWN, Oct. 1, 1919.

To the Director of Prisons:

I herewith submit the one hundred and fourteenth annual report of the State Prison for the year ending Sept. 30, 1919.

The commitments from all sources were 177; the discharges, 196, including 5 discharged on expiration of maximum sentence, 107 released on permit, 2 pardoned, 15 removed to insane hospital, 54 removed to other institutions, and 13 who died.

At the beginning of this year the influenza was at its worst in the prison. Out of a population of 556 there were 376 cases resulting in 11 deaths. This average was low compared with the outside world and other institutions. Too much credit cannot be given to Dr. Joseph I. McLaughlin for his tireless and skillful work during this emergency. In our population we had three inmate physicians who rendered valuable services. Many inmates volunteered their services in caring for the sick. To all who aided at this time I extend the appreciation of the institution.

In April the shoe industry and the public use shoe department were consolidated, thus giving us about 100 men to be distributed in other departments where they were needed. This change is working advantageously. On July 5 a fire occurred in the cutting and stitching room. The loss was estimated at $5,000, — $4,000 on stock and $1,000 on the building. The loss of time while the shop was being repaired made our loss in this department a great deal more.

Last January we made contracts for equipment and stock for the manufacture of automobile plates for the year 1920. Several delays occurred in the delivery of presses and numeral coating machines, and it was July 1 before the plant was in full operation. We have at this date manufactured 120,000 pairs of plates. These are the first embossed plates ever used in Massachusetts, and we are turning out a highly satisfactory product. The other industries — aluminum ware and galvanized iron, brush, hosiery and underwear, and mattress — are continuing along the lines of former years.

The work performed in the school is very gratifying. There are 86 pupils in the evening school, with all inmate teachers. The afternoon school is for illiterates, of whom there are about 40, and who are unable to speak English. The teachers for this work have been furnished by the city of Boston. The work accomplished by them is remarkable, and I am asking for an appropriation to continue this work.

Last spring we moved the small brick building that was used as the office of the deputy to the east end of the yard, and part of the grass plot was removed, thus doubling the area of the ball field. Several games with outside teams have been played on holidays. On Labor day, under the supervision of the Boston Athletic Association, athletic contests for prizes were held in the yard. During the winter a course of lectures and entertainments was held in the chapel. Eight evening entertainments were given, besides a minstrel show which was presented by the inmates. All these entertainments were furnished without expense to the prison, and to all who have contributed to this work we give our thanks and appreciation.

Rev. Michael J. Murphy, the chaplain, celebrates Mass each Sunday morning at 8.30. The Protestant service is held at 10 o'clock, in charge of Rev. W. Bradley Whitney; Jewish services in charge of Mr. Moses L. Sedar are held every other Sunday morning; a Christian Science service in charge of Mr. Lewis Harney is held every Sunday afternoon at 1.45; and an Episcopal service is held each month on a Sunday afternoon by Rev. Albert F. Crabtree. All of these gentlemen have rendered most valuable services, and have given their aid to any inmate whether of his religious faith or not.

I desire to express my thanks to the Director of Prisons, his deputies, and to all connected with the Bureau of Prisons, for their constant support and consideration, and my appreciation of the faithful and efficient services of the deputy warden, clerks, officers, and employees who have given their earnest co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

ELMER E. SHATTUCK,

Warden.

Three out of five of the population here were stricken during the epidemic of influenza which swept the country about a year ago, and considering the unfavorable conditions under which we worked, more particularly as regards the impossibility of securing medical aid from outside the prison walls, we have every reason to feel gratified that the fatal issues did not reach higher than 3 per cent of the tabulated cases. As we stated in our last annual report, strict quarantine measures, so far as possible, had been instituted a week or two before the invasion of the disease, all visiting had been disallowed a short time thereafter, assembling in the shops and chapel discontinued, and the men kept in the open as much as possible; but as the days went by the epidemic assumed greater malignancy, both in type and the number of its victims, attacking with more fatal power the younger and healthier element.

Aside from this, the usual good health of the community has been maintained throughout the year. In the ordinary routine work 189 Wassermann tests were taken, and 87 intravenous injections of arsphenamine, supplied by the State Department of Health, were given. Dr. George H. Lappen, the visiting dentist, reports that 1,190 operations, comprising extractions, fillings, root canal treatments, etc., were performed in his department during the year, and Dr. A. E. Poole visits the prison weekly to care for those complaining of defective vision, supplying the remedy required in needed cases. Suggestions offered in previous reports tending to remedy the long-existing inconvenient conditions in caring for the sick have as yet not been heeded.

Respectfully,

JOSEPH I. McLAUGHLIN, M.D.

Physician and Surgeon.

CHAPLAIN'S REPORT.

CHARLESTOWN, Oct. 1, 1919.

To the Warden:

As chaplain of the State Prison I respectfully submit the following report.

Sunday services are conducted by the chaplain at 8.30 o'clock, followed by a Protestant service in charge of the Rev. William Bradley Whitney at 10. Christian Science services are held in the chapel Sunday afternoons at 1.45. Rev. Moses L. Sedar looks after the welfare of the Jewish inmates, and besides holding services twice monthly he frequently visits those of his faith to instruct and console. Rev. Albert Crabtree regularly conducts an Episcopal communion service. The attendance and spirit manifested by the prisoners in the discharge of their religious duties has been uniformly and surprisingly good, and a source of much consolation and encouragement to those charged with the spiritual welfare of the inmates.

The library has been especially well patronized during the year and serves as a complement to our school, which has been most efficiently conducted. The chance of obtaining an education, particularly in the rudiments and grammar school studies, is eagerly sought, especially by those of foreign birth. The success attained by the prison day and correspondence schools has surpassed the expectations of its most optimistic advocates.

On Sept. 1, 1919, there were 8,640 volumes in the general library, 4,114 textbooks, and 967 vocational works, making a total of 13,721 volumes at the disposal of the men. During the year 483 books and 19 bound magazines were added, 1,231 volumes and 383 magazines were sent to the Prison Camp and Hospital, and 44 books were destroyed, being unfit for further use. There were 29,230 books distributed, a monthly average of 2,436 and a daily average of 91. The State purchases the various weekly and monthly periodicals for general circulation in the institution, and religious papers are donated by the different denominations for men of their respective creeds. I would renew the suggestion of last year, that, in order that our library may continue to maintain its high standard of general excellence, an appropriation not to exceed $300 be made each year for the purchase of new books.

Among the many salutary and beneficial innovations of the past year the extension of the lecture and entertainment courses, given Sunday afternoons and week day evenings in the chapel, holds first place. A series of lectures given by eminent men and women has done much to stimulate a love for better and nobler things. The entertainments provided have been varied and of a high order of excellence, bringing joy and happiness, and dispelling the gloom and monotony of close confinement. For the first time in many years a minstrel show was given by home talent, and merited universal commendation. The lectures and entertainments have done much to improve the mental and moral condition of the prisoners, and have played an important part in producing and keeping alive a friendly and cheerful spirit, and in fostering a faithfulness and diligence in the observance of rules and regulations which reflects credit upon those who govern as well as those governed.

In conclusion, I wish to express my sincere appreciation of the assistance and co-operation shown me by the officers of the institution, and publicly to commend the reverend gentlemen associated with me for their unselfish and untiring efforts to improve the material and spiritual life of the poor unfortunates.

Respectfully submitted,

M. J. MURPHY,
Chaplain.

MASSACHUSETTS REFORMATORY.

CONCORD (post-office address, CONCORD JUNCTION, MASS.).

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

To the Director of Prisons:

CONCORD, Oct. 1, 1919.

I herewith submit the thirty-fifth annual report of the Massachusetts Reformatory for the year ending Sept. 30, 1919.

There have been 462 committed and 435 discharged during the year, the average daily population having been 424, a decrease of 43 in the average daily number as compared with the preceding year.

HOSPITAL.

At the time of writing the annual report for the year 1918 we were in the midst of the prevailing epidemic of influenza, and although a large number of cases had developed we had had up to that time no fatalities, but during the first two weeks of October we lost by death ten, and on Jan. 12, 1919, one other, making a total of eleven deaths as a consequence of the influenza and its resultant effects. Other than these there have been no deaths, and the general health of the inmates has been excellent.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES.

Services have been carried on regularly by the chaplain, with the collaboration of Rev. Father Kiley and Mr. Moses L. Sedar, who have conducted weekly services for the especial benefit of the Catholic and Jewish inmates.

SCHOOLS.

The day and evening schools of letters have been conducted much as usual, although curtailed to some extent. Mr. Garvey, our former superintendent of schools, who has been discharged from the United States military service, returned to his old position September 1, and the schools are now running as usual.

FARM.

Crops of all kinds have been abundant and of good quality. We have canned all the tomatoes we could, also some sweet corn and squash for our own use, besides furnishing a quantity of sweet corn, tomatoes and other vegetables to the State Prison. We are especially fortunate in our potato crop, there being very little evidence of the rot which has ruined the crops in other localities, and was to be expected on account of the great amount of rain which has fallen in the past few weeks. We have had 175 acres of land under cultivation.

ENGINEER'S DEPARTMENT.

The engineer's department is in good condition. The electric generating unit for which appropriation was made in 1917, and which at the last report had just been received and placed on its foundation, has been completely installed and is giving entire satisfaction.

MILITARY.

Our military instructor, Capt. Michael J. Dee, has returned to his old post of duty at the reformatory after a year and a half of active duty in France with the United States army. We had been obliged to curtail our activities in this department to a certain extent, but have, since September 1, increased the number of men and the time allotted to drill, and the benefit to the morale and discipline is already apparent.

BARN.

The alterations in the dairy barn, to which reference was made last year, have been completed. A cement floor, with steel stanchions, automatic drinking bowls for the cattle, and a milking machine have been installed.

INDUSTRIES.

The cloth industry has been kept busy, although not up to its maximum capacity because of the low population. It has been found practicable, however, to again start up the weave room which was closed a year ago and thus help production.

The furniture industry has had all the business it could take care of under the conditions of low population and the difficulty in obtaining suitable instructors. This department is at present short two instructors, but I hope the positions will soon be filled.

SPECIAL APPROPRIATIONS.

The wooden storage sheds in the reformatory yard are fast getting into a condition where considerable repairs will be needed to continue their usefulness. These are all old buildings and not worth much expenditure.

In the Resolves of 1916, chapter 103, a sum not exceeding $5,000 was appropriated for the purchase of material for the construction, in part, of a fireproof warehouse at the reformatory.

This appropriation was expended for the purchase of brick which has since been stored on the ground, and nothing as yet has been done toward the actual construction of the building.

I recommend that a further sum of $5,000 be asked for the continuance of this work, with the expectation that we will be able to complete a portion of the building, at least, during the coming year.

I also renew my recommendation for the purchase of a tract of land of about 145 acres with a dwelling house and outbuildings thereon, directly across the road to the north of the reformatory buildings. The price asked by the owners is $18,000, the same as last year, and I recommend that an appropriation for this purpose be requested.

GENERAL.

The year in review, with the exception of the influenza epidemic, has been an uneventful one. Everything has moved quietly, in customary lines. The order and discipline among the inmates have been generally good. The introduction of the smoking privilege, which was brought about during the summer just past by the director's order, was a new departure which has proved very popular with the prisoners, as was to be expected.

I feel that a word of appreciation is due and that a record may well be made here of the patriotic service of those reformatory employees who enlisted in the military and naval service of the United States during the World War. They were seven in number, viz., Michael J. Dee, Henry J. Lund and James J. Mansfield, officers; John A. Garvey, superintendent of schools; Francis A. May and Thomas W. Ryan, Jr., teachers in the evening schools; and Lester G. Hawkins, a stenographer of our clerical force.

Officers Mansfield and Lund were killed in the performance of their duty, the former on the field of battle, the latter, who was in the naval service, by the accidental discharge of a firearm while instructing recruits.

The reformatory library, under the charge of the chaplain, has had additions of new books during the year as well as some to replace old ones worn out. There are about 6,300 volumes in the library at the present time.

My renewed thanks are due to the officers and employees of the reformatory for their loyal support and co-operation, and especially to the director and his deputies for their unfailing consideration and assistance.

Very respectfully,

PERCY W. ALLEN,
Superintendent.

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

Oct. 1, 1919.

To the Superintendent:

The thirty-fifth annual report of the medical department is hereby respectfully submitted. The epidemic of influenza was at its height in this institution Sept. 30, 1918, when 140 cases were under treatment. In the month of October the first outbreak was practically over and most of the uncomplicated cases had recovered. The number of deaths, all due indirectly to influenza, and all but one due directly to some complication, pneumonia generally, was ten out of a total of 342 cases, a mortality for this series of 2.9 per cent. In November and December ten other cases of influenza appeared. Of these, one case, complicated with pneumonia, died, giving a total mortality of 11 in 352 cases, or 3.1 per cent. The prevalence of cases giving clinical symptoms of pulmonic involvement which extended the patient's attack beyond the crisis of influenza was 76, but many other cases showed the symptoms, in lesser degree, of edematous pulmonic involvement. No deaths have occurred from other causes. Since December the health of the inmate community has been very good.

The setting-up exercises, squad maneuvers, and calisthenics in the open have been continued, and the band organization has been maintained in spite of the diminished numbers of the population, so that the individual prisoner's requirements of a generous, well-balanced ration, plenty of fresh air, exercise, and occupation have been met. In addition to these essentials the consciousness of progress in some occupational pursuit and in the school of letters tends to promote an attitude of co-operation and loyalty on the part of the inmates, and their daily participation in squad drills and in marching to and from occupation and the dining room in open ranks, soldierly formation, to the music of their own band, is conducive to a healthful esprit de corps. In the last ten years a subtle and wholly gratifying improvement in the inmates' responsiveness to reformatory regimen while in the institution is noticeable, notwithstanding the somewhat increasingly inferior intellectual status and equipment of the inmate personnel.

Of the 462 arrivals, including recommitments, 229, or 49 per cent, were found on physical examination to require medical or surgical treatment, classified as follows: 105 cases of venereal disease, 119 cases of visual defect, and 5 cases of nose, ear and throat diseases. All cases of venereal disease are at once placed on intensive treatment. Cases of visual defect are referred to the visiting optometrist or to an ophthalmologist, and cases of carious teeth are entered upon the list referred to the visiting dentist. Cases requiring the services of a surgical or medical specialist are usually taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital, the Massachusetts Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary, or to the Harvard Dental School for the benefit of the ample facilities there available, — facilities, the benefit of which we are keenly appreciative.

Biochemical examinations of serological specimens from all arrivals are made at the State Department of Health Wassermann Laboratory, to check up clinical findings and assist in the earliest possible determination of venereal disease infections, and to demonstrate the failure or success of our treatment.

The practice of supplying each arrival with literature on body hygiene, and of supplying selected cases with appropriate sex hygiene instruction, is continued. Time is taken for the latter purpose, not only during the physical examination, but later in the course of the psychopathic examination and constructive interview.

The prevalence of lues has been 14.4 per cent of the population. Serum specimens from 439 cases have been reported upon by the State Wassermann Laboratory. Of these, 26 were positive, 371 negative (including unsatisfactory specimens, broken containers, etc.), 33 were doubtful and 9 unsatisfactory. Sixty-eight doses of arsphenamine have been administered to 37 cases. Nine, or 24 per cent, cases treated gave negative reactions six months or a year or more after treatment. Unfortunately, however, our cases, having ceased to be a public menace under treatment, pass from our observation long before the expiration of the period of observation necessary to determine the question of an absolute cure. The requirement of the Massachusetts statute, that prisoners whose infections are a menace to others be detained under treatment, is strictly observed, however, and no case is paroled when the disease is in a communicable state.

The intensive treatment of syphilis and the development of a venereal disease clinic, which has kept fully abreast of the scientific advance made in this specialty, was begun in 1910. Our first administration of the then so-called 606 was given intravenously Jan. 21, 1911. The first doses were supplied gratis, for scientific purposes only, to an accredited hospital by the Rockefeller Pathological Institute from the second consignment to reach this country from Professor Ehrlich's laboratory. Since that time without interruption this specific in some of its various forms has been administered by the approved method to every case of syphilis unless contra indicated. In the years preceding 1915, when the State Board of Health began supplying the public institutions with Wassermann reaction returns, the reformatory bore the considerable expense of securing such returns at the Harvard Medical College laboratory.

The appended tables indicate that cases of adenoids, hemorrhoids, phimosis, hernia, nasal obstructions, pus foci, enlarged tonsils, etc., have been treated as heretofore. The dental laboratory fully equipped has been in uninterruptedly successful operation, in charge of a competent graduate dentist, providing all inmates with free treatment to insure, at least during incarceration, against those forms of health deterioration which may be traced to dental or oral neglect.

With the hospital equipment fairly complete and comparing favorably with that of similar institutions, the proximity of the hospital facilities of Boston, and the uniform courtesy of the specialists consulted, — surgical, dental, orthopedic, aural, ophthalmic, genitourinary, bacteriological, roentgenographic, etc., — the means of securing the good health of the inmates is at least as good as that enjoyed by the average citizen, and it is certain that much better health conditions obtain for the former than they provide for themselves when not incarcerated.

During the year seven prisoners have been treated in Boston hospitals, five becoming in-patients and remaining a total of one hundred and ninety-one days. None of these attempted escape. The gratitude of the physician and of the several critically ill patients is due the hospital experts and Drs. Barker, Titcomb and Walcott of Concord, for their timely and skilled consultant's advice and assistance in emergencies.

Eleven years ago, when the Massachusetts Reformatory Psychopathic laboratory began its development, such a project was an innovation in any penal institution. Criminology has now advanced beyond the point of regarding the material and physical welfare of prisoners, foundational and necessary as it is, as the end to be sought. It is now realized that though a man be well housed and clothed and cared for he is not necessarily reformed. Penologists now have a practical realization that reformation is a mental process, and that the mental capacity of some prisoners is inadequate.

In 1912 the first edition of a study of 100 Massachusetts Reformatory inmates appeared, "The Defective Delinquent: Differentiating Tests" (second edition in 1916), which graded this representative group as to intelligence, and gave the method pursued. In the years 1914 to 1919 studies and case records of the mentalities of individual prisoners were made, and the summaries were furnished the Board of Parole and Pardons, as well as being filed.

A conclusion from our psychopathic laboratory observations and classifications of nearly 2,000 prisoners is that at least 17 per cent are so far inferior in mental capacity, intellectually or characterially, or both, that they should be committed for a longer course of treatment than is provided for by the usual sentence, and that they should not be sentenced as are more capable offenders.

Intelligence capacity is susceptible to improvement under good home training, and, in lieu of that, with institutional practice. Hence offenders of defective intelligence should not be sentenced or incarcerated with those sufficiently well equipped intellectually and characterially to respond to established reformatory regimen.

The laboratory has laid special emphasis on the importance of the study of character in reformation, basing its thesis on the fact that reformation implies a behavioristic change in those intellectually capable of revising their manner of living. This proposition is set forth in a paper prepared for the annual congress of the American Prison-Association in New York City October 20 to 24 of the current year, "The Importance of Character Study in Criminology." Another paper, "The Defective Delinquent since the War," was on the program of the American Association for the Study of the Feeble-minded, Chicago, May 28 to 29, 1919. The psychologic basis for the above proposition has been submitted in a paper, "Character as an Integral Mentality Function," read before the March, 1918, meeting of the Boston Society of Psychiatry and Neurology, and since published and reprinted.

The so-called defective delinquent should be recognized by the courts aided by psychiatrical experts before their cases are adjudicated, and then be committed to a suitably equipped farm colony or institution for treatment, on the basis of their condition and needs rather than on the basis of their offenses.

CHAPLAIN'S REPORT.

To the Superintendent:

CONCORD, MASS., Oct. 1, 1919.

In submitting my annual report I desire to emphasize the need of optimism in all prison officials who are intrusted with the State's most important business, — the reclamation of those who have been adjudged guilty of criminal offenses, and in consequence have been deprived of their liberty.

I know of no work where the temptation is greater to say in haste, "Once a criminal always a criminal." I know of no work where the opportunity is greater to read in human beings the longings to some day acquit themselves like men, in spite of the records of wrongdoings they have heretofore made.

The fundamental worth of a penal institution lies not in its physical equipment, but rather in the character of the officials who have been chosen to guide and to instruct in right thinking and in right action.

Character influence is the mighty force in reformation. The school, the workshop, the chapel, and all other departments in the prison, must seek to teach the all-importance of clean thinking, wholesome living and honest workmanship.

The longer I am in prison work, the more convinced I am that optimism is the valued qualification in the prison official. Without it, I believe he cannot cope successfully with the problems of his office that confront him day by day. When a man is first sent to prison he is very apt to think that he is permanently side-tracked; that his future is blighted; that he is now so handicapped in the race of life that there is not much chance for him to attain any degree of success. At such a time as this the prisoner needs assurance that this is not the case, and that whatever his past, with God's help and his own exertions and the co-operation of his fellows he can still make good in character and work. To come into the life of an inmate of a penal institution at such a moment is the privilege of every prison official. To place within the reach of every inmate opportunities which, when grasped, will enable him to build up his body, enlighten his mind, and awaken his soul to the spiritual realization of its divine aims and purposes is the duty of the State.

Character in the prison official spending itself unsparingly in the prisoner's welfare is sure to bring forth fruit. Education, whether it be of the hand, of the mind or of the soul, enables the prisoner upon his release to stand upon a higher plane of citizenship.

It has been very gratifying to me to meet many former inmates who said that their stay in the reformatory had been beneficial to them. They have spoken of the classrooms in both the day and the evening schools, where they learned to read and write, or where they had opportunity to take up again the studies in the grades. They have referred to many of our officers and instructors who had shown interest in their welfare. The physical drill, the choir, the orchestra, and the band were helpful agencies. In many instances it was only after looking back to their enforced sojourn here that they were able to best understand and interpret the aims and the purposes of the State while its prisoners.

Our First Grade Meeting is an institution in itself. During the year we have had most interesting programs. Men and women leaders in the public forum have been glad to come and give addresses. Entertainers who stand for clean enjoyment have willingly given their services. Managers of motion-picture corporations have loaned us their newest and best films. Representatives of the Young Men's Christian Association, the Knights of Columbus, Salvation Army, soldiers, sailors and aviators of the great war have told us of the splendid work accomplished in the name of world-wide brotherhood. Churches have sent their choirs to sing to us. Newsboys have come to tell us of their work in floating Liberty Bonds and the like. We have had representatives of all the allied Nations give accounts of what their governments stood for in the big conflict.

Our library is a department that is well patronized. During the year many books have been discarded. We have at present on our shelves approximately 6,300 volumes that are in very good condition. Since coming to the institution many of our young men have cultivated the taste for good wholesome reading. Many of them read during a single year over a hundred books, not including study books.

"Our Paper" still holds its high place as a weekly publication. Practically all our men after reading their copies send them to their homes, where they are much appreciated. While many of the articles are taken from the best papers and magazines, opportunity is offered our inmates to contribute from their writings. Many of them deserve special mention.

Religious services are held every Sunday in the chapel. Roman Catholic Mass is said at 8.30 o'clock by Rev. M. D. Kiley, administrator of The Help of Christians Church, Concord Junction, and the Catholic religious instructor of the reformatory, or by his assistant, the Rev. Edw. J. McLaughlin. Both these gentlemen have shown deep spiritual interest in the welfare of the men, and are always ready to respond to every call made upon them. During the epidemic of influenza their frequent visits to our hospital afforded much spiritual comfort to those afflicted.

The general service is held at half past 10 o'clock by the chaplain, assisted generally by Chaplain Emeritus Wm. J. Batt, to whom I am indebted for valued help. He is to-day as he has always been, vitally interested in our men, and merits the good will and esteem which we all have for him. The sterling qualities of his character endear him to all who know him, Christian gentleman that he is.

The musical department under the efficient leadership of Mr. Robert Carter is thoroughly appreciated by all. As choir director, organist and orchestra leader he is doing splendid work. We are glad to learn that Mr. Carter will be able to give more of his time during the coming year in the interest of the First Grade Meeting and the Monday Night Club.

Mr. Moses L. Sedar, Jewish religious instructor of the reformatory, holds a service here every Friday afternoon for the Jewish inmates. He not only says things, but does things. He visits the men here and their families at home, believing that it is a most important part of his work to know something about the home life of his charges. Rev. M. I. Robinson, delegated by the congregation of Ohabei Sholom of Boston, comes here on special holy days, as has been his custom for the past seventeen years. His message, always optimistic, finds a welcome in the hearts of his listeners.

Once a month the Rev. Albert Crabtree, Diocesan Prison Missionary of the Episcopal Church in Massachusetts, visits the Episcopalian young men. His coming is appreciated. He brings a personal word to the individual. All the men who know him have high regard for him as clergyman and as man.

During the year, on holidays and other days, entertainments have been held which afforded pleasure and education for all.

In conclusion, I desire to place on record the deep appreciation I feel for the great assistance I have had from the superintendent, the deputy superintendent and the assistant deputy superintendent, and all other employees, in carrying on the work of my department.

Respectfully,

ROBERT WALKER,

Chaplain.

REFORMATORY FOR WOMEN.

SHERBORN (post-office address, FRAMINGHAM, MASS.).

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

SHERBORN, Oct. 1, 1919.

To the Director of Prisons:

The Legislature¹ has committed the Reformatory for Women to a more liberal policy toward its staff and officers by building for them a home apart from the institution. The complete freedom from the atmosphere of the reformatory will make it possible for the officers to live more normally, and to bring hope, freshness and a new spirit back into the work. Men's reformatories, insane hospitals, and, indeed, most other State institutions, have long recognized the need of normal home life for their workers. We believe this to be the first woman's institution to take this step. To the inmates it will mean a greater responsibility in self-government.

When the officers move into the new home we shall have their old rooms available for every educational undertaking, except the gymnasium, which we have urged for years, and which it has been impossible to establish owing to lack of room space. We have secured the services of an able superintendent of schools who will come to us next spring. We still hope to secure the services of normal school students to teach under her direction.

SECTION 1. To provide for additional permanent improvements, for certain new activities, and for supplementing certain items in the general appropriation act, the sums set forth in section two, for the particular purposes and subject to the conditions stated therein, are hereby appropriated from the general fund or ordinary revenue of the commonwealth, unless some other source of revenue is expressed, subject to the provisions of law regulating the disbursement of public funds and the approval thereof.

SECTION 2. . . . For building, furnishing and equipping a dormitory for one hundred and two officers and employees at the reformatory for women, under the direction of the bureau of prisons, a sum not exceeding one hundred twenty-two thousand dollars.

For improvement of buildings at the reformatory for women, under the direction of the bureau of prisons, a sum not exceeding eighty thousand dollars.

For remodeling barns at the reformatory for women, under the direction of the bureau of prisons, a sum not exceeding twenty thousand dollars.

We hope that by 1921 we can resume farm work with the women as a part of their training and health development. If we can have, until then, a large and strong camp crew to finish draining the low lands, for work on the barn buildings, and for heavy farm reconstruction work, it will be possible for the women to carry on the farm garden and dairy work. The temporary prison camp has been a great boon to us, and the men have been almost uniformly courteous and helpful. People have expressed to me fears that such a camp would be a detriment to our work. I wish to go on record as saying that I have not found it so. We have not been able to have the women work on the farm with the same freedom, but that inconvenience has been offset by the heavy work the men have done. Temporary camps for men prisoners as developed by your office are, I believe, a permanent part of a State policy in penology.

We ask this year for a new fireproof carpenter and paint shop and root cellar. We have no root cellar and lose many vegetables each year in consequence. Our paint and carpenter shop is inside the building, and has been condemned by the fire risk division of the State Police. The Legislature has steadily upheld us in our policy of overcoming all the fire traps at the reformatory. The removal of the carpenter and paint shop is a part of that plan. The estimate cost of both is $20,600.

We had a fire in the hospital February 21, which could never have been controlled if we had not had the new 12-inch water main provided by the Legislature in 1916. As it was, the fire was confined to the hospital section of the building. There was no loss of life. The women showed a most wonderful spirit; none were hysterical, and all stood ready to leave the building in perfect order, and with apparently tranquil minds if the call came. Their splendid self-possession then and throughout the influenza epidemic in January made them all dearer to our hearts than ever, if possible. Never have we seen a more heroic going "over the top" than they showed during these emergencies.

We all owe a deep debt of gratitude to the Framingham fire and police departments, through Chief A. Howard Fiske and Chief William W. Holbrook and their men, for their able and humane help to us all in this crisis.

Owing to the fire we were obliged to begin the repair work, for which $80,000 was allotted, in the hospital. This work is well under way. The operating room will be enlarged, an elevator installed, the old, dangerous mansard rooms abolished and a flat roof provided, where anæmic and tubercular patients can be given outdoor sleeping and occupational care.

We recommend that tubercular patients be treated at the reformatory after the completion of the repairs on the hospital. We now send the tubercular women to the State Infirmary at Tewksbury.

We can then give all the incipient and curable tubercular patients a measure of correctional and educational training on the outdoor plan, and prevent the runaways that are inevitable at the State Infirmary. In this connection I would call your attention to the fact that the court in Southern Middlesex County has ruled that chapter 210, section 16, of the Revised Laws does not govern escapes from State hospitals or any other hospital to which we may transfer patients. It would seem important to have an amending clause added to that law.

Dr. Sullivan's report is evidence of the excellent medical care which each woman receives. We have discontinued operating until our hospital is rebuilt. In the meantime, we shall send special patients to the State Infirmary. Dr. Jessaman is back from overseas to take up eye, ear, nose and throat work again. Dr. Cronin's work on the teeth is showing excellent results, in that most of the women paroled have had their mouths put in good condition.

The death of Dr. Lewis N. Palmer, visiting surgeon to the reformatory, is a big loss and a grief to us all. He had shared for years all our professional joys and sorrows with understanding and a keen sense of humor. Our women remember him with gratitude. Letters still come to us asking for him and his family.

We incorporate Dr. Brannick's report into our own, as covering points of importance regarding the psychological work with the women. Her report of the year's work for the reformatory is as follows:—

Number of individuals admitted during the year,	257 ¹
Mentality not yet determined,	7
Intellectually normal (including those of average native ability and the dull normal group),	125, or 50 per cent
Intellectually defective,	122, or 48+ per cent
Grading at border line of mental defect,	22
Moron grade,	93
Imbecile grade,	7
Insane,	3, or 1+ per cent
Deviation from normal mental health in other than the intellectual field:—
Epileptic,	6, or 2+ per cent
Neurotic, inferior or psychopathic constitution,	39, or 15+ per cent

The above classification has made no attempt to classify according to social competence.

Although 48 per cent are found on psychological examination to be so far below the average that they must be classed as defectives on the intellectual side, only a relatively small percentage of them could be segregated on the basis of that defect alone. Neither is it true that the more defective are the less socially competent. The social histories of these girls show that under more favorable circumstances many of the dullest of the group might have made good in the community. Even in the presence of intellectual defect it is probably true that the social causes of delinquency still remain greater than the organic.

During the period of the war certain tendencies within our population were noted, the most striking of which were the relative increase in commitments for sex offenses, the increase in the number of very young girls admitted, and, on the mental side, the marked increase in two opposite classes, — the low-grade feeble-minded, and the relatively high-grade girl. In the first six months of the year 15 girls were admitted who had had some high school training, and 22 in the course of the year. The explanation is apparently wholly related to the war, and probably lies in the lure of the military uniform, the activity of the various vice squads urged on by Federal officials, and the associated campaign against venereal disease.

If the reformatory had to deal only with individuals who are simply defective, or simply dull, or simply delinquent, its educative and reformatory task would be comparatively simple. Unfortunately, a relatively large number of the population is decidedly complex, presenting, sometimes in the intellectually normal, sometimes in the mentally defective, various phases of emotional and social maldevelopment. These are the individuals who furnish most of the excitement and all the trouble of an institution. With the present equipment of the reformatory, a few of these girls will take the major portion of the time of several matrons, with the consequent neglect of the more normal and hopeful types. Yet even these could be handled and trained with comparative ease and success if, in addition to industrial occupation, the reformatory had also opportunity for educational, therapeutic and recreational activities.

The new State laws relating to venereal disease have already brought to the institution a relatively large number of the more hopeful type of delinquent girl, committed here on the first arrest because she is found to be diseased. This is the type who, before the campaign against venereal disease was started, was tried successfully on probation. The reformatory should be as well equipped to meet her needs in an educational way as it is medically.

Below is given a summary of the needs of the reformatory as seen in the light of a mental survey of the population. Many of the requirements are already met in whole or in part at the reformatory. The whole does not imply the need of an elaborate system or apparatus, and seems but a minimum of requirements for the humane treatment of the mental twists found in this group, and for the possibility of giving treatment according to individual needs.

ORGANIZED ON MERIT SYSTEM WITH THE GOAL, RELEASE.

AIM: AN INDUSTRIAL INSTITUTION.

Industries (including farm industries), taught in the beginning from the educator's point of view.

Educational occupation.

Therapeutic occupation.

School subjects.

Gymnaso-therapy.

Hydrotherapy.

Psychotherapy.

Sociotherapy, — the attempt to straighten out family and similar problems that may be causing unrest or unhappiness. At the reformatory this is provided for in the Research Department.

Recreation, apart from that obtained in educational and therapeutic occupations and in the gymnasium.

Discipline.

During July and August Dr. Brannick was on leave of absence from the Reformatory for Women as lecturer in charge of the Department of Social Medicine in the Smith College Training School for Social Work.

If public opinion should swing to the belief that the existence of venereal disease is sufficient cause for imprisonment, reformatory populations would change very strikingly. Younger girls, those formerly put on probation, would be committed. Being younger, they would seem more hopeful, and the industrial work would become more and more co-ordinated with the educational. It is borne in upon us that in the last analysis it is not sin or crime that governs prison populations, but public opinion, that is, public fears.

This is the forty-second annual report, and is respectfully submitted with gratitude to all who have helped.

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

To the Superintendent:

SHERBORN, Oct. 1, 1919.

The forty-second annual report of the medical department of the Reformatory for Women is herewith respectfully submitted.

While the admissions to the institution during the past year have been slightly less in number, the work in the medical department has increased materially over previous years.

The hospital statistics for the year 1918-19 are as follows: —

Number of patients admitted to hospital during year,	1,020
Average number of patients in residence daily,	28+
Number of patients in hospital Sept. 30, 1918,	22
Number of patients in hospital Sept. 30, 1919,	16
Number of patients visited in rooms,	1,651
Number of patients treated in gynecological clinic,	5,575
Number of patients treated in out-patient clinic,	10,104
Number of patients treated by oculist from March, 1919, to October, 1919,	454
Number of patients treated by dentist,	913
Number of patients transferred to State Infirmary,	20
Pregnancy,	16
Operation,	3
Tuberculosis,	1
Number of patients placed in Framingham hospital,	1
Number of patients removed by order of court to Wrentham State School,	1
Number of patients removed by order of court to State hospitals for the insane,	7

The greatest increase has been in the number of patients admitted to the hospital. The admission rate, 1,020, is nearly three times that of previous years. This is accounted for by the epidemic of influenza which struck the institution in December, 1918, and January, 1919, and, to a large extent, by the number of patients admitted to the hospital for a day or more for treatments of arsphenamine. It is obvious that the medical work of the Reformatory for Women is interesting in proportion to the number of patients treated and to the facilities for treatment.

In the general medical routine the treatment of venereal diseases is undoubtedly the most important work and that requiring most effort. Of the 286 women admitted during the year, 204, or 71 per cent, were in very poor, or poor, physical condition. In nearly 100 per cent of these 204 women their poor physical condition and low resistive powers were due to one or both venereal diseases. It is also true that all the deaths in the adult population during the influenza epidemic occurred in cases with recent syphilitic infections.

During the past year 97 per cent of the population had gonorrhœa when examined on admission. This diagnosis is arrived at from clinical examination and laboratory findings. The treatments for gonorrhœa during the year number 5,575. It is our aim to treat the milder cases at least once a week, and the more virulent or mixed infections oftener. We have found that in order to obtain negative smears, and absence of clinical manifestations, it is necessary to treat the cases on an average of nine months. It is very difficult to treat gonorrhœa thoroughly in women, and often after treatment has been stopped, and there has been no exposure, symptoms of the disease will recur.

The percentage of syphilis continues about the same from year to year. During the past year 47 per cent of those admitted were syphilitic. This diagnosis is made from history, clinical signs and Wassermann tests on the blood serum. The Wassermann tests are made by the State Department of Health. The co-operation received from the Wassermann Laboratory facilitates our work greatly. It is interesting to note here that there is rarely any disparity between the clinical finding and the laboratory reports.

A report is made to the State Department of Health on every case of syphilis and gonorrhœa admitted to the institution. For the past year we have received from the State Department of Health arsphenamine for use in the treatment of syphilis, and 919 doses have been administered.

The results of this year's treatment have been encouraging. Of 388 discharged from the institution during the past year, 8 only retained a positive reaction of the blood serum to the Wassermann test. Five of these cases were in the tertiary stage and in women who had long alcoholic histories, and the remaining three were in congenital cases. In spite of most intensive treatment a negative could not be obtained, although none of the women showed any signs or symptoms of the disease on release.

The course of treatment as followed by us for the past year has been the combined use of arsphenamine and mercury. If there are active clinical signs when a patient is admitted to the institution she is immediately started on daily inunctions of mercury preceded by a hot bath.

The arsphenamine is used once every five to seven days for six doses. If the clinical signs have not cleared, the mercury is continued, and after a rest of one or two weeks the injections of arsphenamine are begun again. The work is being checked up during the progress of treatment by Wassermann tests on the blood serum. The treatment of latent cases varies from the above in that mercurial inunctions are not always started immediately after entrance. We rely here more on the intensive use of arsphenamine.

Although the women leave the institution with negative blood tests and no clinical signs, we have no way of following the cases to know whether or not the blood becomes positive again without fresh infection. Two women who returned on revocation of permit had previously been treated in this institution for syphilis and were negative at the time of release. When they were admitted a second time, in each case nearly a year after discharge, the blood tests were still negative. In these two cases we have fair evidence of cure, or, at least, an arrest of the disease.

The dental work is being carried on by Dr. Anastasia Cronin two days each week. Each woman is examined at admission, and before release an effort is made to have all work finished. There have been 200 cases put in hygienic condition. This means treatment of pyorrhœa, extractions, treatments, fillings and sometimes plates and bridge work.

The following table gives in detail the amount of work accomplished by the dentist: —

Number of women treated by dentist,	913
Number of teeth extracted under novocain,	602
Number of fillings,	631
Number of root fillings,	41
Number of dressings,	456
Number of treatments of gums,	129
Number of plates repaired,	2
Number of plates made,	7
Upper plates,	5
Lower plates,	2
Number of cases of ether extraction,	6
Number of cases of full extraction under ether,	3
Number of cases of partial extraction under ether,	3
Number of cases of teeth cleaned and scaled,	238
Number of cases hygienically complete,	200

The major surgical work was carried on during the first seven months of the year. The pathological conditions found and the operations performed in each case are given below. The surgical cases have been closely watched, both before and after operation, and the post-operative discomfort has been very little in nearly every case. The surgical work was discontinued for the year in June, at the time of Dr. Palmer's death.

Dr. Palmer was consulting surgeon to the reformatory for three years, but for many years he had given generously of his time, kindness and knowledge to the hospital and institution as a whole. Personally, I feel more keenly from day to day the loss of an understanding friend and adviser.

A routine eye, ear, nose and throat examination is made of every woman by Dr. Jessaman. This work was discontinued for two years, during Dr. Jessaman's absence in war service overseas, and begun again in March. Since that time Dr. Jessaman has examined and treated 454 patients.

There were 189 women and 12 officers who were attacked with influenza during the second wave of the epidemic in December and January. The first case was admitted to the hospital December 24, and the last case Jan. 15, 1919. The wave reached its height January 4, when there were 189 women and 8 officers ill. Pneumonia developed in 38 of the 201 cases. Many of the cases showed slight pneumonic processes which did not develop into frank pneumonias. The most difficult cases to treat, and those of longest duration, were among the infants. The form most common among the 20 babies infected was the intestinal type. The infants first showed signs of pneumonia, with enterocolitis as a later complication. Five adults and five babies succumbed to the disease.

The diagnoses of the medical and surgical cases admitted to the hospital during the year are as follows:—

CHAPLAIN'S REPORT.

SHERBORN, Oct. 1, 1919.

To the Superintendent:

During the past year the order of Sunday services has remained the same; the Mass has been celebrated by Father Garraghan, and the afternoon service by a Protestant minister, with a communion service once a month. Rev. Richard T. Loring has given instruction to the women of the Episcopal church, and Mr. Moses L. Sedar to those of the Jewish faith.

The school problem was more complicated during the war. We received many young girls of high school grade, who under more normal conditions might never have reached us. There were, besides this group, many of low grade. As far as possible, the work has been graded to include from the second to the seventh grade. School sessions have been held afternoon and evening, and a shorthand class of nine has done good work.

It would be difficult to imagine the institution without the library, so important a part has it become. Upon being discharged from quarantine each woman is taken to the library, and a list of books made for her. The majority have read little or nothing, but many form the habit of reading while here. There are a number of the best juvenile books for those of low mentality, or those who have had few educational advantages. A selection of wholesome fiction is carefully made, excluding books of morbid and sensational character. In co-operation with the school plan, many girls have been reading biography, travel, history, historical fiction, and, in a number of cases, Emerson, Hawthorne, Hugo, Eliot, etc.

Great stress has been laid upon recreation this past year. New apparatus has been put up in the big playground, where the swings, etc., have been enjoyed by all.

The influenza interfered with many plans for amusement, but the usual entertainments were given on the legal holidays. At Christmas, a Santa Claus play was given, with music from "Pinafore." Fourth of July was a joyous day spent out of doors.

Instruction in singing has been given to a group of those who were specially interested, but has never been allowed to interfere with the general singing, in which all are encouraged to join. There has been added to the repertoire of the large group, during the past year, Gounod's "Unfold, Ye Portals," Kipling's "Recessional," sung to De Koven's music, and "Protect Us," by Curschmann.

A very enjoyable concert was contributed during the winter by Miss McLaughlin, Mildred Deegan, Alta Dunbar and Mary Archer.

PRISON CAMP AND HOSPITAL.

RUTLAND (post-office address, WEST RUTLAND, MASS.).

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

To the Director of Prisons:

WEST RUTLAND, Oct. 1, 1919.

I submit herewith the twelfth annual report of the Prison Camp and Hospital.

Our industries, which comprise the various farm activities, were exceptionally successful this year. Our total income from industries to date is $11,562.30, and the total this year will no doubt exceed the amount of income received last year, although there were no road camps in operation this year.

At present we are devoting our best efforts to building up a herd of pure-bred Holstein cattle. At the beginning of this year we had a total herd of 47, with only 5 pure-bred cows. To-day we have a total herd of 55 head, including 23 pure-bred cows. Our production of milk has so increased that we are now able to supply the Rutland State Sanatorium with 220 quarts a day, besides the amount consumed at this institution. We have added a milk room to the dairy barn and installed an aerator for cooling the milk.

We have purchased two thoroughbred Berkshire gilts and one thoroughbred boar to serve as a foundation for a herd of pure-bred swine. We have also purchased two thoroughbred Percheron fillies for breeding purposes.

The production at the hennery has been exceptionally satisfactory; in fact, better than in any previous year. We have produced sufficient eggs to supply the institution, and in addition sold to date 7,399 $\frac{1}{3}$ dozen, of a total value of \$4,200.99. We also sold 3,415 day-old chicks, and raised 1,632. We have on hand at the present time 1,400 fowls and roosters, and 1,100 chickens, and will carry over a flock of 2,000 for the coming year.

Our farm crops have been excellent and have exceeded our expectations. There has been just one exception, — the potato crop. We had the best field of potatoes ever grown here, but unfortunately the rot struck them and we cannot save more than one-third of the crop. This is the first year in the history of the institution that we have harvested the corn crop without its being frostbitten. Still, we have practically reached the limit in crop production on account of the lack of acreage under tillage. We have about 90 acres at present under cultivation, and there is no opportunity to increase this amount to any extent, as the uncultivated land available is rocky and of poor quality, and it would not pay to reclaim it. There is another very discouraging element, namely, the fact that we have frost practically every month of the year.

The town of Rutland hired our tractor at different times during the last several months and employed on an average eight of our men on the roads. The men showed a very good spirit, and their services were very satisfactory to the town authorities as well as to us. The new institution road to West Rutland station is still unfinished. We devote as much time as possible under existing conditions to improving and completing the road. Our principal problem at present is with the fills, which keep settling. Still, we use this road for our traffic, as it is better and a shorter route to the depot than the old town road. The main yard at the camp section is being graded and a new fence put up, as the old one was falling down from decay.

The work in the outlying camps still continues along the same lines as in previous years. The only drawback has been the shortage of men, for which reason we shall be obliged to close Camp Adams at the Rutland State Sanatorium. The camp at Lakeville was closed on Dec. 2, 1918, and has not been reopened. At the present time we have camps at the following State institutions: North Reading State Sanatorium, Tewksbury State Infirmary, Medfield State Hospital, and Reformatory for Women.

The population at the hospital has been very low this year. We closed the west wing in November of last year, and it has not been reopened except during the epidemic of influenza here last December. It was then used for inmates from the camp who were afflicted. This was a very trying period, and we had a total of 54 cases. I regret exceedingly to state that two of our officers died of this disease, — Mr. Joseph Manley and Mr. Frank F. Ireland.

We have installed a small heater at the hospital for bathing and for washing dishes, thereby eliminating the use of the large boiler during the summer months, and resulting in the saving of a car of coal each year.

I am very sorry to report the death on March 12, 1919, of the Rev. James F. Allen, our Protestant chaplain, whose faithful and conscientious labors lent inspiration and encouragement to our inmates to overcome the many temptations which prove such severe obstacles during life. His place has been ably filled by the Rev. George S. Dodge. I am very glad to state that the Rev. Fr. Thomas McNamara continues his good work among us. I desire to express my deep gratitude to these two men for their patience and faithfulness in dealing with the moral and spiritual problems of the inmates, and their sincere and zealous interest in leading these men to achieve better and nobler results in life. Mr. Moses L. Sedar visits the Jewish inmates once each month, and his influence for good among his charges is always deeply appreciated. The Christian Scientists hold weekly services and contribute liberally of their literature.

I wish to thank Mrs. Ellen W. Gray who supplied this institution and the outlying camps with books of fiction by the best modern authors. I desire to express my hearty appreciation of the painstaking co-operation and aid given me during the past year by the deputy superintendent and all the employees connected with this institution. To the Director of Prisons and his deputies I wish to express my thanks and acknowledgment of their kind consideration and support.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLARD J. TURNER,
Superintendent.

On Dec. 12, 1918, the hospital inmates were stricken with influenza which lasted three to four weeks. All hospital patients but three were victims, also 12 camp men, 5 officers and one nurse. Two officers died of influenza pneumonia of five days' duration. There were no deaths in the hospital or camp section among patients or inmates from influenza.

During the past year 100 Wassermann tests have been made at the camp and hospital. It was found that 69 of the camp men were negative, 9 were positive and 11 were doubtful. Of the hospital, or tubercular patients, 8 were found negative and 3 positive.

At the camp section there have been 629 cases needing either medical or surgical treatment. Surgical cases demanding a major operation have been referred to the Massachusetts General or Worcester City Hospital. Suitable cases of eye and ear trouble are referred to specialists. The hospital and camp are supplied with a dentist as often as his services are required.

There has been no change in the treatment during the past twelve years, since the hospital first opened. We have never given any lunches. We have had a working class for patients if their condition permitted. All bed patients order their food for each meal of what is allowable. The only exception to this rule is that bed patients can have, if desired, an evening lunch of milk or malted milk. The treatment in vogue is stuffing and rest for every one. All tubercular patients are standardized. At the present time the leading tubercular institutions of the country have adopted the individual diet and treatment, less stuffing and suitable exercise and work. This change in régime from some of our leading institutions is of interest to us in that we feel that we have used some common sense in the treatment of the tubercular prisoner.

Why not turn more attention to the problem of the tubercular prisoner who is with us in more numbers than we know about, and in need of earnest consideration?

Respectfully submitted,

WM. E. CHAMBERLAIN,

Physician.

STATE FARM.

BRIDGEWATER (post-office address, STATE FARM, MASS.).

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

To the Director of Prisons:

STATE FARM, MASS., Oct. 1, 1919.

On August 27, ninety days after its enactment, chapter 199 became effective, providing that the supervision of this institution be transferred from the State Board of Charity and the Trustees of the State Infirmary and State Farm to the Bureau of Prisons.

Conforming to your custom and request to make the annual report as of September 30, this report includes but ten months, as the last one was for the year ending Nov. 30, 1918, and contained the first two months of the present year. I am therefore submitting report from Dec. 1, 1918, to Sept. 30, 1919. The statistics, in the form which you require, accompany this report.

The prison problem here is pretty nearly pinched out. Misdemeanor offenses apparently are obsolete and out of date. It would appear that drunkenness by the former standard, that is to say, real, respectable (?), legitimate whiskey boozing, had folded its tents and stolen away. A small minority of the class are left playing with the substitute poisons, and it is a fair inference that they are paying a penalty more severe than that formerly imposed by due process of law. Very few are committed here or at the county prisons. Another year's decline at the same ratio as the last one will find us all putting up the shutters. Prohibition was ushered in upon us in a soft, stilly manner without fuss or fume. All we knew of prohibition was an indifferent observation of the State of Maine brand; nothing in its interpretation or execution by the Pine Tree State to alarm a drunkard or disturb the more moderate social functions. Not until the chill of July 1 did we awake to the fact that something had happened. Our whole great Nation was in it, and Uncle Sam meant business. To-day that person will be rare indeed who will be foolhardy enough to undertake to break the "drought." No, never! Prohibition is here to stay, and those of us whose business it has been to make, cure, reform or punish the victims of free booze may as well accept the amendment and use the "To let column" for further occupation.

This annual document has usually been our medium or opportunity for reviewing past performances and exploiting plans for future ambitions. Lack of labor capital halts the function. Whatever may be the future, the past, thank God, is secure. A farm of 1,500 acres, 900 of which have been reclaimed from waste and brought to a high state of cultivation and fertility, and its plant of simple and substantial character, capable of housing over 3,000 of the defective and minor offense wards of the State at one-half the cost elsewhere, has an asset value far too great to scrap, junk or auction.

Comparative cost of development and construction with the present-day period would justly show in normal appraisal that the State Farm is a clear legacy of prison labor to the Commonwealth. In its evolution, the central thought and study has been to develop the land and construct a plant compatible with our belief and confidence that our committed misdemeanants could be more generally employed in the open, and safely so with a minimum of restraint, and that such employment would furnish a safe and sound foundation upon which manhood, both physical and moral, could be restored. That the conception and fulfillment is confirmed is a most gratifying thought in a long and unbroken experience.

No thought or consideration of a Bastille for unshackled felons so vicious or dangerous as to render them incapable and therefore ineligible for such treatment entered into the study of our plan for open-air occupation.

The proportion of more serious crime which could safely be trusted to accept the plan in vogue here must be left to the judgment and experience of those handling the problem for care of such cases.

The State Farm, with its valuable and efficient equipment, is the embodiment of the life work of those of us identified with its growth and development to date. Our pride in the achievement must be our license for the hope that some solution in the maintenance and care of State wards may be found by which its possible great benefits may be realized and utilized.

Farming has been the one activity of greatest concern and anxiety this year. Aside from the daily current demands of general care and upkeep (all of which has been cut to the lowest possible minimum), the farm has had first call, and all else has necessarily been subordinate to its needs.

Our clarion cry for help through your Bureau was but feebly answered. No alternative but to "lie down" or "brace up." We chose the latter, and made further requisition upon the authorities of the Criminal Insane Department for labor of patients. Their direct responsibility for the safe-keeping of their wards suffered some tension, but they recognized that the needs of the farm outweighed any possible danger by the escape of any they would select and assign. Their common-sense action relieved a situation which would have resulted in nearly a total loss of crops. Great credit is due to the patients who are more and more joining in the active service of the institution.

From the middle of July to date 25²²/₁₀₀ inches of water have been deposited on the farm. This is accurate, for we keep the record by rain gauge. This visitation, spread over many days of drizzle and fog, left little time or effect for sunshine. Not less than 300 tons of hay and rowen were lost, and the greater part of the bean crop has not been harvested, which in a normal year would have yielded 800 to 1,000 bushels. Any amount of labor could not have battled this condition. Wheat and oats suffered severely on account of excessive wet. Both matured well, but could not be cured after cutting. Oats were all lost; 520 bushels of wheat were threshed, but of very inferior quality. The orchards also suffered. Large quantities of fruit dropped in the heavy rains. Most of the crop, 4,300 bushels, will be evaporated on account of poor condition to store.

On the credit side of the account, marvelous as it may sound, we really boast of a bumper crop of potatoes. Most of the acreage was planted on high, dry land, 49 acres yielding 285 bushels per acre, and very little rot; 7 acres on low land yielded 188 bushels per acre, not including nearly as many more unsound.

Eleven hundred tons of ensilage have been stored, of excellent quality. We are estimating about 6,000 bushels of field corn of fair quality. Onions, squash, cabbage and roots have been fair; but the quantity produced has been less than usual because of reduced acreage.

Every one interested seemed to imbibe the spirit and catch the step that the farm must not slump, either in production or reputation. Infirm old men willingly joined in the rescue, as also did the women in their leisure periods, in such service as weeding in the gardens, picking peas and fruits, breaking and husking corn, etc. Frequently during the season all have responded willingly to a call for Sunday and holiday service to save the crop from impending damage. To all associated in the uphill pull of trying to make our institution keep the pace of former years (excluding 1918 and 1919) we are under obligations worthy of record.

We are not pluming ourselves that we have fully kept the pace, but we have demonstrated that much more has been accomplished than we believed possible under the restricted conditions, and I know that all who have responded, in spirit join with me that in some degree a few feathers have been earned.

In the governmental shuffle required by the amendment our location by separate act antedated the completed deal by about two months, affording us time for a pleasant and graceful introduction to your Bureau, and it gives us much pleasure to duly acknowledge your courteous welcome. Pardon us, however, if in the same thought we express extreme regret to have lost the official strength and kindly counsel of our trustees, and all departmental officials.

Respectfully submitted,

HOLLIS M. BLACKSTONE,

Superintendent.

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

(PRISON AND ALMS DEPARTMENT.)

BRIDGEWATER, Oct. 1, 1919.

To the Superintendent:

I hereby submit the annual report of the State Farm hospital for the ten months ending Sept. 30, 1919.

There were 122 patients in the hospital on Dec. 1, 1918, and 309 were admitted, the whole number under treatment totaling 431. Of these, 274 were discharged and 54 died, leaving 103 still under treatment at the close of the year.

Of those who died 10 were prisoners and 44 were paupers. The average age at time of death was sixty years. Approximately 75 per cent of all admissions have been from the pauper department, the relatively low percentage of admissions from the prison being in ratio to the comparatively low census in that department. The ages of those admitted have been correspondingly high, and the prognosis as to recovery naturally poor, 80 per cent of the deaths resulting from chronic disease.

Statistical details are shown in the following tables:—

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

(INSANE DEPARTMENT.)

BRIDGEWATER, Oct. 1, 1919.

To the Superintendent:

The annual report of the Bridgewater State Hospital for the ten months ending Sept. 30, 1919, is hereby submitted. The statistical tables which are included in this report are for the year ending Sept. 30, 1919.

The average daily number of patients cared for was 816. Admissions numbered 72, and were from the following sources, viz.: State Farm prison department, 27; State Prison, 15; Massachusetts Reformatory, 5; houses of correction, 9; the courts, 14; jails, 1; and hospitals for the insane, 1. Discharges numbered 99. Of these, 11 recovered, and were either returned to the penal institution from which received, or released because of expiration of sentence. Nine improved and were discharged to the care of relatives or friends; 8 showed no improvement; 4 were transferred to other institutions for the insane; and 1 found not insane was returned to court for trial. Of the 66 deaths occurring during the statistical year, 35 were directly attributed to influenza, which was epidemic in September and October, 1918. Excluding this period the general health of patients has been excellent, and the death rate comparable with that of previous years. One death by suicide has been recorded.

It is recommended that an X-ray equipment be installed to replace the present outfit which is inadequate for either diagnostic or therapeutic purposes. The estimated cost of such equipment is $2,500.

An intelligent study of cases committed to the hospital for observation and treatment requires that accurate information concerning the personal and family history of the patient be obtained. Data bearing upon conditions leading to the offense and subsequent commitment should also be secured, and proper after-care provided for such patients as are released to the community. A social service department, made up for the present of at least one field worker, should be established during the coming year.

Catholic and Protestant religious services have been conducted as in the previous year by the chaplains, Rev. Albert M. Readdy and Rev.

L. B. Coddington, respectively. Jewish services have been conducted by Mr. Moses Sedar.

Patients have engaged in baseball games and out of door sports during the summer months, and the moving pictures continue to be a popular form of amusement during cooler weather. It is no doubt desirable that a greater variety of entertainment should be furnished, but our attendant quota is at present too low in number to permit more frequent assembling of patients without crippling ward service. It is believed, however, that with sufficient addition to our attendant corps a more extended program, including musical entertainment and lectures, might be arranged.

Coincident to the falling off in commitments to the prison there has been a steadily growing demand for inmate labor from the hospital. We have in some measure been able to supply the need, more especially that of the farm, where the daily detail shows very material increase over that of last year. This service has been voluntary on the part of the patients, who have apparently enjoyed the work and the added privileges. Comparatively few attempts to escape have been made, with but one patient remaining away at the close of the year.

The walled garden, connected with the hospital and worked by patients requiring closer supervision, produced as follows: beets, 601 bushels; beet greens, 322 bushels; string beans, 64 bushels; shell beans, 59 bushels; lettuce, 13,465 heads; cucumbers, 83 bushels; peas, 179 bushels; onions, 653 bushels; tomatoes, 80 bushels; carrots, 984 bushels; turnips, 100 bushels; parsnips, 46 bushels; muskmelons, 1,180; watermelons, 850; raspberries, 475 boxes; strawberries, 1,444 boxes.

Dr. W. Y. Seymour resumed his duties on Jan. 1, 1919, after five months' service as captain in the United States Medical Corps. No other staff changes have occurred. A previously existing vacancy still remains unfilled.

To the medical staff and to all employees whose duties have been faithfully and efficiently performed I wish to express my appreciation.

To the Board and to the superintendent for timely council and advice I am truly grateful.

CHAPLAIN'S REPORT.

To the Superintendent:

BRIDGEWATER, MASS., Oct. 1, 1919.

In submitting the annual report for the year 1919 I must of necessity be brief, inasmuch as there is not much to be said. During the past year the work of the chaplain and his assistants has been lessened considerably owing to the falling off in the number of inmates, due in great measure to the war-time prohibition. If like preventives could be found to combat the other moral disorders, or if the same respect was manifested for the decalogue as for the laws of the State, both deriving their authoritative power from the same source, — the Almighty, — institutions of this kind would gradually disappear; but to err is human, and to correct these human failings is precisely the object of our labors, — the preaching of the word of God attacking just those moral evils which make institutions of this kind a real necessity, administering the sacraments as a powerful antidote against crime, and preparing the sick and dying to render an account of their stewardship.

In our labors we have been extended every courtesy by the officers of the institution. Mr. Hollis M. Blackstone, the superintendent, has shown himself a fatherly adviser and counselor to all, by whom he is held in affectionate regard. Dr. Carlisle and his efficient medical staff have been very considerate and of great assistance to us in the discharge of our duties.

Mass has been celebrated, and a practical talk, intended to correct criminal tendencies and uplift the erring, has been given on Sundays in the prison department and on week days in the asylum. The inmates have had ample opportunities for performing their religious duties, and the great majority, I am pleased to say, fulfilled their Easter obligations, the chaplain being assisted on this occasion by neighboring priests.

The catechism classes, held heretofore in the Blackstone school on Sunday morning, have been changed to Saturday morning, owing to the little time at the disposal of the chaplain on Sundays. We are grateful for the courtesies extended to us during the year.

Respectfully submitted,

ALBERT M. READDY,

Catholic Chaplain.

CHAPLAIN'S REPORT.

BRIDGEWATER, MASS., Oct. 1, 1919.

To the Superintendent:

In the twelve months past, the usual routine has been followed of weekly visits to the prison hospital, distribution of reading matter, and Sunday afternoon religious services at the prison and asylum chapels.

Miss Trask of the Shaw school, Brockton, has more than once sent us generous gifts of good literature. Other friends have provided books and magazines. Mr. William Boyden, assisted by Mr. Mace Gay, cornetist, and five other accomplished musicians, gave a fine musical service the Sunday before Christmas. Other kind and talented singers and players have been present at our chapel services throughout the year. To them and to the many officers of the State Farm who have helped us we give our hearty thanks.

Respectfully submitted,

L. B. CODDING,
Protestant Chaplain.

REPORT OF THE AGENT FOR AIDING DISCHARGED PRISONERS.

To the Director of Prisons:

One thousand six hundred eighty-six male prisoners have been furnished with assistance during the year ending Nov. 30, 1919. One thousand three of the above number had been paroled or otherwise released from the institutions directly under the control of the Bureau of Prisons, and were aided from the State appropriation for this purpose.

One hundred sixty-six men at liberty from the State Prison were aided, as follows: —

Railroad fares to homes or place of employment,	$246 82
Board and lodgings,	1,331 13
Clothing,	705 50
Tools,	116 15
Miscellaneous,	42
Total,	$2,400 02

Three hundred thirty-three men from the Massachusetts Reformatory were aided, as follows: —

Railroad fares to homes or places of employment,	$669 72
Board and lodgings,	1,762 44
Clothing,	787 20
Tools,	29 40
Miscellaneous,	2 37
Total,	$3,251 13

Four hundred six men from the Prison Camp and Hospital were helped, as follows: —

Railroad fares,	$647 41
Board and lodgings,	1,148 76
Clothing,	359 80
Tools,	30 05
Miscellaneous,	50
Total,	$2,186 52

Ninety-eight men, released from the State Farm between Aug. 27, and Nov. 30, 1919, received the following assistance:—

[illegible]

Six hundred eighty-three other men, nearly all of whom had been inmates of the county prisons, were assisted by the agent from the funds of the Massachusetts Society for Aiding Discharged Prisoners, at an expense to that society of $2,501.11.

The number of prisoners has decreased 57 per cent during the past five years and about 24 per cent in the last year, while the expenses attendant upon aiding them have increased in nearly the same proportion, owing to increased prices.

The material aid to prisoners represents only a part of this work. Troubles of all sorts are continually brought to the attention of the agent in the hope that he may be able to suggest a remedy.

Ex-prisoners with honorable discharges from the Army or Navy have called for advice and help, which has been gladly rendered. Employment has been secured through the Bureau of Prisons and myself for practically all of the men released from the State Prison and Massachusetts Reformatory, as well as for many from other institutions. The work, while not easy, has been fairly successful.

Thanking all who have contributed to it, I am

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE E. CORNWALL,

Agent.

REPORT OF THE AGENT FOR AIDING DISCHARGED FEMALE PRISONERS.

ROOM 9, STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, Dec. 1, 1919.

To the Director of Prisons:

The annual report for the year ending Nov. 30, 1919, is respectfully submitted.

As in years past the demand for domestics chosen from this branch of service is constant, and cannot nearly be supplied because many of the women released from the penal institutions choose factory or mill work with its higher salary scale and the desired freedom of movement after working hours.

The work of aiding varies somewhat, and each case is considered most carefully in order that the best plan may be worked out for the rehabilitation of the applicant. In the past twelve months many opportunities for the better grades of business have been extended to our girls, and they in general have been successful in their chosen employment.

In passing, it is of interest to note that several are filling positions of trust in the nursing world, and also in domestic science.

Since the department was established in 1881 many hundreds have been reclaimed and started on the right path leading to good citizenship. That a large number have attained this goal is attested by the duty well done in their various avocations.

Wages during the year have been materially increased, and the women are encouraged to open bank accounts, with a view to having something saved to fall back upon in time of need. With few exceptions they respond well to advice, are heartily interested in all efforts made for their welfare, and are eager to report success in their undertakings.

Eight hundred ten women were assisted according to their various needs, and the total expenditures for the year are accounted for in the following statement: —

Board and lodgings,	$122 20
Clothing, boots, shoes and rubbers,	2,112 32
Railroad fares and travel,	429 64
Miscellaneous,	251 56

$2,915 72

Respectfully submitted,

ELIZABETH A. QUIRK,
Agent for Aiding Discharged Female Prisoners.

REPORT OF THE AGENT FOR THE IDENTIFICATION

OF CRIMINALS.

To the Director of Prisons:

ROOM 440, STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, Dec. 1, 1919.

I have the honor to submit herewith my report on identification of criminals for the year ending Nov. 30, 1919: —

Records received during the Year from Police Departments and Prisons.

Finger prints received from State penal institutions,	778
Finger prints received from county prisons,	1,687
Finger prints received from police departments,	2,183
Finger prints received from penal institutions without the Commonwealth,	1,836
Finger prints received from police departments without the Commonwealth,	2,463
Total,	8,947

It is gratifying to report for the year just closed that the Bureau has received an exceedingly large number of records. All of the sources that regularly supply us with records, except the county prisons, have sent us more records than in former years. The cause for the smaller number of records for the past two or three years from the county prisons is well known, — some have been closed during the year for lack of inmates, while others have had much less than their normal number of inmates. The number of finger-print records from the police departments of the Commonwealth has been larger than in former years, and this increase is no doubt due to the fact that police officials find the records so useful.

An indicator of the growth of the work of this Bureau and the increasing scope of our activities may be gained by examination of the statistical tables of the records received by years. At the beginning of this year we had on file 4,415 records from outside sources. This number represented the accumulation of the twelve years during which this Bureau has been in existence. During this fiscal year we have received a total of 4,299 records, almost as many as we had received in the whole twelve years.

Among the activities of this Bureau may be mentioned furnishing photographs of fugitives to chiefs of police; assisting probation officers in accumulating complete criminal records; personal identification of criminals before the courts; measuring prisoners for police officials by the so-called Bertillon system; and preparing and examining finger prints accidentally left by burglars on windows and other materials. The agent has had many cases of accidental prints, and has compared, verified and made true identifications for the police departments of Providence, R. I., and White Plains, N. Y.

From information received for special investigation from the police departments and prisons, both by correspondence and telephone, the bureau has made 729 identifications, located 9 escaped prisoners, reported 156 parole violators and 14 other fugitives, and has traced 2 escaped lunatics from insane asylums. The agent has met some very interesting finger-print cases during the year, and has been of assistance not only to the police and prison officials, but also to banks, an insurance company and to the State Treasurer in connection with the bonus to an ex-soldier.

An interesting case occurred at Arlington, Mass., where John Doe broke and entered a dwelling house and drank from a bottle of milk, leaving excellent finger prints upon the bottle. These prints were prepared, photographed and compared with those of the suspected burglar. Before the court the prisoner pleaded not guilty, but the finger-print evidence was introduced and explained, after which the person was found guilty and sentenced to prison.

One of the investigators for the John Hancock Life Insurance Company called upon the agent for assistance in tracing a former inmate of the Massachusetts Reformatory. The family of this man sought to collect the amount of the policy on the ground that he was hanged for murder under the name of James W. Spencer at Chicago, Ill. By communicating with the Chicago police we learned that Spencer had been hanged, and fortunately we were able to obtain his photograph and finger prints. Comparison of the finger prints of Spencer with those of the reformatory inmate showed that he was not the party in question. In this case it is interesting to note that the physical descriptions of the two men were quite alike while the photographs showed that both had crossed eyes. The finger-print system in this case saved the Life Insurance Company the payment of the policy, and is an excellent reason why the insurance companies should make more general use of the system in their work.

It is sometimes difficult for a person to establish his identity conclusively. John P. applied at the State treasury for his $100 bonus, but did not have his discharge from the army. He was a former inmate of the Massachusetts Reformatory, and from his finger-print record I was able to reprint his fingers at the bonus division. Comparison of the records at once established his identity and right to the bonus.

Another interesting case illustrates the advantage that may be secured by banks using the finger-print system to identify some of their depositors. George M. secured, by breaking and entering the lodging house of Altense V., a bank book belonging to the latter. M. then presented the stolen bank book at the Worcester Institutions for Savings and drew $500. The bank clerk made a copy of the finger prints of the person drawing the money upon the note which bore the forged signature of V., but did not compare the record with that of V. already in the bank. After M. received the money he returned to V.'s room and replaced the bank book in the place from which he had taken it. Some few weeks later V. decided to deposit some more money, and found that somebody had taken out money from his bank account. He reported the matter to the bank officials, and I was called upon to assist them in their investigation. Comparison of the original finger-print record of V. with that of the person who had withdrawn the money at once showed that some one had forged the signature of V. By a systematic search of the bank's finger-print card system a record was found on file which bore finger prints that were identical with those on the forged order. The identity of the thief was thus disclosed as George M., who had an account in the bank some time before.

The police were notified, a warrant issued, and after a few weeks he was located in Lowell, Mass., and placed under arrest. Before the police court he pleaded not guilty. The agent exhibited greatly enlarged prints of both persons, and explained their differences. After the evidence was all in he was held for the higher court. Before the Superior Court M. pleaded guilty, and was committed to a house of correction for a term of nine months.

The agent has at all times kept the chiefs of police informed of subsequent arrests and commitments to prison of persons who had previously established records in their departments. He has sent out 399 such letters of information during the past year. More than once they have sent letters of appreciation, and stated that the person was wanted by them for old or new offenses. This practice of keeping the police departments informed tends to encourage them to make and file finger-print records, and is probably one of the reasons why we received such a large number of records during the past year.

The agent wishes to express his appreciation of the co-operative interest shown by the police departments and prisons of the Commonwealth that have so faithfully sent records to this Bureau for a number of years, and to extend a welcome to those who have more recently become affiliated with our Bureau. He also wishes to extend his thanks to the police departments and prisons outside the Commonwealth for their courtesy in mailing to this Bureau finger-print records, and especially commends the action of the Connecticut State Prison and Vermont State Prison in this direction.
